GCSE Exam Results 2018

John Mason School is celebrating a rise in standards for the third year running under the leadership of Headteacher Sarah Brinkley who joined the school in 2015, with 69.5% of students achieving the new government measure in English and maths. The school has bucked the national trend with boys exceeding the progress of girls in key measures by 10%.

TeamJMS are very pleased to report that English has attained 78.3% the equivalent of A* - C, as well as 22.4% of students gaining grade 9-7 (A*/A). In addition, maths has continued its steady rise with a result this year of 77% of students achieving at the equivalent of C or above, substantially higher than the national figure. Similarly, science has continued to build on the success of fantastic A Level results, and has improved student outcomes with a 10% increase in the A*-C or equivalent pass rate.

The majority of subjects performed the same or better than last year, including English, Maths, all sciences, history, geography, art, textiles, graphics, 3D design and computing. These results reflect the hard work and determination of staff, students and their families. We are, as ever, extremely proud of our students.

The results this year reflect a huge amount of hard work and effort on behalf of our staff, students and their families.

Below is a summary of results with historical data showing the upward trajectory over the past three years:

Attainment and Progress Measures

15 Students (9%) who attained at least 7 9-7 (all A*-A):

William Thompson, Abigail Walker, Jonathan Bingham, Thomas Fry, Abbie Carter, Carys Hopkins, Daniel Doran, Maisie Hudson, Rowan Bevan, Eloise Aitken, Eloise Brewster, Abbie Hussey, Millie Lyon, Jennifer Graham and Sky Manthey.

We are equally proud of those students who have made the most academic progress since leaving primary school:

Matthew Evans, Eleanor Simpson, Millie Lyon, Holly Trotman, Rowan Bevan, William Thompson, Mia Adams, Daniel Doran, Eloise Brewster, Thomas Fry, Oscar Thomas, Abbie Hussey, Lauren Ball, Max Greenall, Katie Bell, Jessica Dann, Trish Ndlovu, Abby-Leigh Farrelly, James Gibbard, Jonathan Bingham, Oliver Barker, Abbie Carter, Sky Manthey, Natasha King, Abigail Walker and Kieran Greenop all made exceptional progress during their time at John Mason School. This is a testament to their application and drive to succeed; well done.

Subjects which did particularly well included Fine Art, 3D design, Graphics, Textiles, Computer Science, History, French, Music, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics.

This is an excellent set of results at a time of educational instability – with no alternative qualifications – just great teaching and learning.
